—We are pained to see that our esteemed cotemporary, the Journal-Gazette, advertises on a balloon, and solicits subscribers from the Angels. The SENTINEL proposes to look after the people who are doing business on the ground.

—Married, at the residence of the bride's parents, on East Walnut St., by Rev. J. F. William, Dec. 30th, Dr. Thomas J. Dillinger, of Murray City, and Miss Minnie Crow. They will make their home in Murray City, where the doctor has a lucrative practice.

—The committee of ladies on Fine Arts for the Loan Exhibition have organized and laid out their work, preparatory to making a canvass of the town for interesting things for their department. We bespeak for their hearty co-operation and aid from all.

—Messrs Gordon Armstrong, Rob Wright, Porter West, colleagues are home on their Christmas vacation, and have shed the welcome light of their handsome and happy countenances upon the SENTINEL Sanctum. The young men are Logan jewels and we are proud of them.

—Mr. Frank Baird of Tonaunda and his brother Sam of Buffalo have been spending Christmas with their mother, at Bairds Furnace guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willard. These young men are in excellent health and spirits and are making a success in business. They met with hearty welcome from many old time friends in Logan.

—The Infirmary Directors of Perry county were in the city on Monday in conference with the directors of our county, adjusting matters in common between the two boards. The Perry county officers are pleasant gentlemen, capable officers and met with cordial welcome and hospitable entertainment from the Haw Eaters.

—Comrade Will Luvian has been allowed a deserved increase of pension. Will was a gallant soldier boy, a "boy" in the literal sense because he went out with the flag before he was of age, and made a record as a soldier worthy of the gallant man he is. His increase was secured by the always ready helping hand of Senator Brice.

—Mr. Steve Hudson is occupying the Schwartz Hardware store room in the Wright Building and conducting a very successful business in paints and notions of various kinds. He buys peanuts in large quantities and get them cheap. He has a roaster which he operates on Saturdays and serves his customers with the nuts warm and fresh and clean. Call in and see him.

—Our business men tell us that they have had a better trade this Christmas than any for the last four years. This is due largely to the fact that they had a fine stock on hand and advertised this fact to the people. Our trade was kept at home. There is lots of business for Logan business men if they only look after it. There is money among the people, there is a rallying spirit all along the line of trade. The American man can not be kept down. There is a bright future for Logan; "There is life in the old land yet."

—Mr. J. D. Longstreng and family have moved to Logan occupying the Armstrong property which Mr. Longstreng purchased some time ago, on Orchard street. Mr. Longstreng is one of the most enterprising public spirited men. He has done his full share of the hard work of life and with a well earned competence in the evening of his life, he comes to Logan to live. He and his family are valued accessions to the social circles of our city and we bespeak for them a cordial welcome, hope their home may always be a happy one.

—Mr. Ed. Westenhaver and son, from Salt Lake City, are visiting in Logan, the guests of the family of his brother, Mr. Wm. Westenhaver.

—The Nelsonville Tile Works was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. This is a sad loss and we hope the proprietors will be able to revive and resume the business.

—"Is Chivalry Dead?" is discussed by a number of well known women in Demorest's Magazine for January making a timely symposium on the public manners of men toward women in business.

—Our neighbor and old time grocer, Pierce, in the Wright Building, makes a New Year's address to our readers, in a plain, straight forward business advertisement, published elsewhere. Call and see Pierce. He has all kinds of groceries, all of the best, and at cheapest prices.

—Prof Will Ewing, the scholarly editor of the Lancaster Academic Leaflet, was in our city last Saturday, but the hurrying tide of trade on our streets, and the forceful winds of commerce on our plaza swept him by the wide open door of the SENTINEL, and he had not time to look in or stop in for refreshment or inspiration.

—"A Nation's Need," is the subject of the sermon Sunday morning, at the M. E. Church, by Rev. J. E. Rudisill, pastor. In the evening the choir will give a song service, followed by a short sermon by the pastor. Special services will be held each evening of next week. All are cordially invited.

—Col. Weldy and Judge Bright left for Cincinnati yesterday, opposing attorneys, to take depositions in a divorce case which will involve magnates, possibly in both hemispheres. The General and the Judge carry letters of credit and reprisal on Eck Sands, of the Enquirer, to whose tender mercies we here and now commend them.

—The Junction City Bent Works, a property worth $30,000 was burned on last Monday. This was one of the most successful business enterprises of its kind in the state, and the loss is not only a local disaster, but a public calamity. The proprietors, Bringardner and Conkle, are men of the grit and nerve, and fibre to meet calamity, and rise above disaster. They will rebuild and at once.

—The New York Journal notes that "Col. Stevenson, general manager of the C. & H. Railroad is spending the holiday season with friends in New York city, and having a pleasant time." Col. Stevenson has the hearty good wishes of the SENTINEL for his merry Christmas and happy New Year in the east and our hope for an early and safe return to the hunting grounds on Queer Creek.

—Dr. Dan Cannon, from Erin Go Bragh, a celebrated Shyropodist, operating in the line of his profession, under the general direction of Judge Jack Friessner, was in our city yesterday, ministering to his distinguished patientage which includes Gen. Weldy, Don Carlos de Buerhause, Col. Robert O. Apostrophe Kittmiller, and sundry Commodores. The eminent Doctor administers jokes as well as medicaments. His card will appear later.

—The Farmers Institute opening on January 4th, promises to be the most interesting ever held in the county. The farmers are waking up to the fact that intelligence of the very highest order must be applied to the farm, or the business is a failure. The institutes are schools, in which not only good lessons are taught, valuable suggestions presented, but the experiences of the enterprising and progressive are given to stand for others as light houses, warning from dangers, as well as guiding to security and success. Let every farmer who can, attend the institute. It will pay.

—The SENTINEL makes a good New Year's Present.

—The Aquinas Reading Circle met at the home of Cecilia Cauty on Wednesday evening, and will begin the new year, with the reading of Fables by Cardinal Wiseman.

—The Fashion department of Demorest's Magazine is better than ever in the January number. The styles illustrated are smart and modish, and yet practical and helpful, and cover every department of women's dress.

—The Democrats of Laurelville propose celebrating St. Jackson's day, with a banquet. Tickets to the number of two hundred have been issued. The occasion promises to be one of social pleasure as well as a democratic reunion. The principles of the good old democratic saint are the watchwords of the party, and now in our day, as in his, when the hand of the Money Power lays heavy on the shoulder of the people, it is meet and proper that the young shall raise and rally in the spirit of the Fathers. We bespeak for our brethren on Salt Creek a happy time.

—We publish an announcement elsewhere, that next Sundays Columbus Journal will favor its readers with a story written by Miss Helen F. Pursell of our city. Miss Helen is not unknown in literary circles, but up to this time has appeared in print only in poetry. In this field she has attained eminence and distinction from the quaint illustrations and novel coloring with which she paints her fancies. She inherits the poetic genius of her distinguished uncle, Judge Silas H. Wright, than whom no man of this generation held higher place on Parnassus or drank deeper from the Pierian spring. We have every reason to expect Miss "Halla's" story will have all the charm that has so gracefully shaped her poetic inspirations.

—Harry S. Green of Logan, has been commissioned to attend the delivery of mail on the new railway route over the Columbus, Lancaster, and Hamden Railroad, from Lancaster to South Bloomingville, which goes into operation tomorrow, January 1st. The work is not particularly a kind requiring athletic prowess, but is exacting. It is held, in the postal service, that a letter is much more important than a ton of merchandise. The new rail road lines open up a new country, not only in business circles of our state, but in the post office. Heretofore, the Logan, post office, which distributes mail outside of the Logan delivery proper, has handled all the mail of the Salt Creek country, for four or five thousand people, who will now get their mail by direct rail road, connecting with the east and west and Columbus is a central distributing point. Harry has had some experience in post office and railway mail service, is endorsed by the railway mail service management, and we have every reason to believe that he will do the work assigned him to the satisfaction of the public and to the requirement of the service.

SHORT STORY.

State Journal Will Publish one from Pen of Helen F. Pursell.

(From Ohio State Journal, Dec. 27th.)

The State Journal takes pleasure in announcing that next Sunday (Jan 3) it will publish a short story written by Helen F. Pursell of Logan, O., a young writer whose productions are meeting with much favor in the literary world. Miss Pursell is a daughter of Colonel F. S. Pursell, editor of the Logan Republican-Gazette, whose speech as chairman of the Republican state Convention four years ago will be generally remembered. His daughter has written much for his paper and has won more than a local reputation as a poet and story writer. Miss Pursell is versatile in her work and confines herself to no particular line, writing essays for scientific journals, fiction for magazines and politics for her father's paper. The whole field of fancy is encompassed in her poetical works. We believe a short story from Miss Pursell's pen will be appreciated by the readers of The State Journal. Watch for it next Sunday.

DIED.

It pleased God to call out of time into eternity the wife of Mr. Lewis Kleinschmidt, Sr. She was born at Dingendorf, Germany, January 25, 1843, attained an age of 53 yrs, 10 mos, and 28 days, when she was suddenly taken by a paralytic stroke, Dec 23, 1896, at 6 o'clock p. m. She leaves a husband and ten children to mourn their loss. She was a faithful member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, and was loved and honored by many friends who extend their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved friends.

Rev. E. G. Spoehr.

STRATTON'S.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Stratton's, inviting the trade of the SENTINEL readers.

This store has become a popular place to trade in our town. The stock of goods is large and varied and of the very best; the clerks are pleasant and accommodating gentlemen, and the prices of all articles for sale, are down to suit the times.

When our readers from the country are in town they are invited to call and see, in Oddfellows building.

—Dr. Lyons, our popular and accomplished physician and surgeon, has just completed a course of instruction in the treatment of eyes. He has made this subject a specialty and is prepared with the proper instruments to treat the most complicated cases. He will take pleasure in adjusting glasses to suit the eye. He invites his patrons to call and see him, and if any thing is the matter with their eyes or the glasses they may be wearing, he will take pleasure in advising.

—Toy of all kinds at the Novelty Store.

ILESBORO.

ILESBORO, O., Dec. 15th, 1896.

Scarlet fever is raging in this community.

Bessie the eight-year-old girl of Henry Bowers died Nov. 26, of scarlet fever.
